

THE CASH OFFER LIE

Everything Investors Don't Want You to Know
(But We're Telling You Anyway)

Discover the truth about cash offers and all 11+ solutions for selling your home

Introduction: The Two Paths

When you need to sell your home, you're told there are two paths: list with a real estate agent or sell to a cash buyer. One promises top dollar, the other promises speed. But what if both are wrong? What if there are 11+ solutions, and the one that's best for you isn't the one people are trying to sell you?

This guide is your second opinion. It's the honest, transparent, no-BS breakdown of how the real estate industry really works. We're going to show you the math investors don't want you to see, the questions agents don't want you to ask, and the solutions that give you back control.

Ready? Let's dive in.

Chapter 1: How Cash Offers Are REALLY Created

This is the chapter every investor hopes you'll skip. We're going to pull back the curtain and show you the exact formula used to calculate cash offers. No secrets, no fluff—just the numbers.

The Formula: $ARV - \text{Costs} - \text{Profit} = \text{Your Offer}$

Every cash offer starts with the After-Repair Value (ARV). This is what your home will be worth after it's fully renovated and ready for a traditional homebuyer.

From there, we subtract our costs and our profit margin. Here's a real-world example:

Example Property: A Distressed Home in Las Vegas

- After-Repair Value (ARV): $420,000
- Estimated Repair Costs: $55,000

Let's do the math:

Line Item	Amount	Description
After-Repair Value (ARV)	$420,000	The price we'll sell it for after renovations.
Resale Costs (9%)	-$37,800	Agent commissions (5-6%), closing costs (1-2%), and taxes (1-2%).
Renovation Costs	-$55,000	Materials, labor, permits, and a 10% contingency buffer.
Holding Costs (4-6 months)	-$12,000	Mortgage, insurance, utilities, and taxes during the renovation.
Our Minimum Profit	-$42,000	We target a 10-15% profit to cover risks and business overhead.
Your Cash Offer	$273,200	The final cash offer, which is roughly 65% of the ARV.

Click here to learn more about how offers are created on our FAQ page.

Why Isn't the Offer Higher?

Because we're taking on all the risk. We're fronting the cash for repairs, paying the holding costs, and gambling that the market won't drop in the next 6 months. The discount you're giving us is the price of speed, certainty, and convenience.

Full Transparency: Our goal is to make a 10-20% return on our invested capital. On a project like this, we invest over $100,000 in cash for repairs and holding costs. A $42,000 profit represents a strong, but not exorbitant, return on that investment and risk.

Chapter 2: Why a Cash Offer Won't Work for You

We just showed you how to get a cash offer. Now we're going to tell you when not to take one.

That's right. A cash offer isn't always your best solution. If any of the following are true, you should probably list your home with a traditional agent:

- Your home is in great condition. If your property is move-in ready and doesn't need significant repairs, you don't need the discount a cash buyer offers. You can get top dollar on the open market.
- You have time to wait. The average home sale takes 60-90 days. If you're not in a rush and can afford to wait for the right buyer, you'll almost always make more money with a traditional sale.
- You're not willing to take a discount. A cash offer is a trade: you give up some equity in exchange for speed and convenience. If your primary goal is to maximize your sale price, a cash offer is not the right fit.

Click here to compare a cash offer vs. a traditional listing on our FAQ page.

Chapter 3: Why Listing Traditionally Won't Work for You

So, you've decided to list with an agent to get top dollar. Great! But what if your property isn't exactly "top dollar" material? What if it needs a new roof, has foundation issues, or is just plain outdated?

This is where the traditional listing model falls apart.

The Stale Listing Nightmare

Here's what happens when you list a distressed property on the MLS:

1. It sits. Buyers looking for move-in ready homes will skip right over it.
2. You get lowball offers. Investors will see it and offer you less than we would have, because now you're desperate.
3. It becomes a stale listing. After 30-60 days with no serious offers, your listing is officially 'stale.' According to Redfin, nearly half (48%) of all listings have lingered on the market for at least 60 days [1].
4. You start cutting the price. To attract new interest, your agent will recommend a price cut. Then another. And another.
5. You lose money on holding costs. While your house sits on the market for 90-120 days, you're still paying the mortgage, taxes, insurance, and utilities. This can add up to thousands of dollars.

Click here to learn more about selling a home that needs major repairs.

The Math Doesn't Lie

Let's look at the real cost of a stale listing:

Expense	Cost	Description
Original List Price	$380,000	What you hoped to get.
Price Reduction (5%)	-$19,000	After 60 days on the market.
Holding Costs (4 months)	-$12,000	Mortgage, taxes, insurance, utilities.
Agent Commission (6%)	-$21,660	Based on the final sale price.
Final Net Proceeds	$327,340	What you actually walk away with.

In this scenario, you ended up with a net price that was 14% less than your original list price, and it took you four months of stress and uncertainty to get there. A cash offer at the beginning might have been higher, and it would have been closed in 30 days.

Chapter 4: All 11+ Solutions Explained

This is where we leave the traditional real estate model behind. We don't just offer cash. We have over 11 different solutions we can deploy depending on your specific situation. Here are a few of our most popular:

1. Fix It & List It

- What it is: We pay for and manage all the renovations on your home. When it's done, we list it with a top agent and you sell it for top dollar. We then get reimbursed for the renovation costs and split the additional profit with you.
- Who it's for: Homeowners with distressed properties who have time to wait for a traditional sale and want to maximize their equity.

- Who it's NOT for: Anyone who needs to sell in under 60-90 days.

Click here to learn more about our Fix It & List It program.

2. Seller Financing

- What it is: Instead of us getting a bank loan, you 'become the bank.' We make a down payment to you, and then you receive monthly payments from us for a set period. You get steady income and tax advantages.
- Who it's for: Sellers who don't need a lump sum of cash immediately and want to create passive income.
- Who it's NOT for: Anyone who needs all their cash at closing.

Click here to learn more about Seller Financing.

3. Subject-To

- What it is: We take over your existing mortgage payments. The loan stays in your name, but we are responsible for making the payments. This is a powerful tool to stop foreclosure and save your credit.
- Who it's for: Homeowners who are behind on payments, have little to no equity, and are facing foreclosure.
- Who it's NOT for: Sellers who have a lot of equity or who are uncomfortable leaving the loan in their name.

Click here to learn more about Subject-To agreements.

Chapter 5: The Investor Reality

Let's talk about the elephant in the room: investors. Are we taking over the housing market? The data might surprise you.

- Investors purchased 27% of U.S. homes sold in the first quarter of 2025 [2]. That's more than one in four homes.
- Investors accounted for 10.8% of home sellers in 2024, the highest share ever recorded [3].

What does this mean? It means investors are not just buying up properties; we are also a critical source of housing supply. We buy distressed homes that no one else wants, renovate them, and sell them to families who are looking for a move-in ready home. We are the market makers who keep the housing ecosystem flowing.

Click here to read about how we transform neighborhoods, one house at a time.

Chapter 6: Facing Your Fears

There are a lot of myths and fears surrounding real estate investors. Let's tackle them head-on.

- Fear: 'Investors are just going to lowball me.'

- Reality: We are transparent about how we calculate our offers. If you want top dollar, we have solutions for that too, like our Fix It & List It program.

- Fear: 'I'm going to get scammed.'

- Reality: There are red flags to watch for. We encourage you to get multiple offers, consult with an attorney, and never sign anything you don't understand.

- Fear: 'My credit will be ruined.'

- Reality: Selling to us can actually save your credit by avoiding foreclosure and late payments.

Click here to learn how to spot and avoid foreclosure rescue scams.

Chapter 7: Real Success Stories

Don't just take our word for it. Here are real stories from homeowners we've helped.

- The Single Mother Facing Foreclosure: We were able to use a Subject-To agreement to stop her foreclosure, save her credit, and give her cash to move into a new rental.

■ Click here to read her full story.

- The Disabled Casino Worker: He was a tired landlord with a problem tenant. We bought his property with seller financing, giving him a steady stream of passive income for his retirement.

■ Click here to read his full story.

Chapter 8: Your Next Steps

Knowledge is power. You now understand how the real estate industry works better than 99% of home sellers. So, what's next?

If you're ready to get a second opinion on your home sale, you have two options:

1. Get an Instant Offer: If you want to see what a cash offer on your home looks like, click the link below. It's free, there's no obligation, and you'll have a real number in your hands in 24-48 hours.

■ Click here to get your free, no-obligation cash offer.

2. Schedule a Consultation: If you're not sure which path is right for you, let's talk. We'll do a free, 30-minute strategy session to go over all your options, answer your questions, and help you build a plan. No pressure, no sales pitch—just honest advice.

■ Click here to schedule your free consultation.

Thank you for taking the time to read this guide. We believe that an educated home seller is an empowered home seller. We look forward to the opportunity to earn your trust and provide you with a second opinion.

References

[1] Redfin. (2024, September 25). Half of All Home Listings Have Gone Stale, Unsold After 60 Days.
<https://www.redfin.com/news/sales-speed-stale-listings-august-2024/>

[2] CBS News. (2025, July 8). Real estate investors are purchasing more U.S. homes as mortgage rates climb.
<https://www.cbsnews.com/news/more-real-estate-investors-buying-homes-housing-market/>

[3] HousingWire. (2025, June 11). Investor home sales hit record high as small buyers gain market share.
<https://www.housingwire.com/articles/2024-investor-home-sales-small-large-buyers-realtor-com/>